The Internet is Filled with Millions of FREE, Time-Saving, Money-Making Tools and Resources...But Do You Know Where to Find Them? (Keep Reading and Ill Tell You...) On November 30th of 2001, I launched my first issue of the Webs Worth Watching Newsletter, and never looked back. Each month I rounded up the best sites I could find and sent them out to my subscribers. So far these sites have included: * Free, bannerless webhosts to use when testing your new mini-sites and products (#1) * Tried and tested link trackers so you know which ads are pulling well, and which ones are not (#38 and #2) * Spy tools that are great for keeping tabs on the competition as well as the latest trends on the Internet (#5, #6, #75 and #82) * Incredibly low-cost voicemail services that can add an instant level of professionalism and trust to your online business (#9) * Free utilities that add spice and usability to your site (#11, #17, #26, #73 and #95) * And much much more... And guess what?! 99 websites you should have bookmarked My subscribers absolutely loved it! Heres what some of them said...

_____ You provide a quality newsletter that is honest, open and valuable in content... I subscribe to hundreds of newsletters. Why? Because I look for value and content which I consider important to maximize my business. I end of deleting most of them or unsubscribing. Yours gets read. You provide a quality newsletter that is honest, open and valuable in content. Keep up the good work. its refreshing to get a newsletter that has your subscribers best interest at heart and you can quote me on this. Robert Lunsford Timesaversolutions.com Delete It? No Way... I enjoy your entire newsletter each issue. Out of all the newsletters I subscribe to, Site Sightings is always well worth reading because of the useful information you publish. Site Sightings helps me stay on top of the latest online news, products and services. Delete It? No Way... I might miss out on something! Keep up the great job in 2003! Steve Strickland infothatsells.com You really care to send the very best... I love the newsletter. You always have sites worth checking out and you personalize the content we read. The very fact that you spend so much time to investigate the worth of the sites you present in the newsletter tells me you really care to send the very best :-)

I took the time to give you this testimonial because you take the time to care about your readers. Thanks for a great newsletter. Wanda

But thats not even the tip of the ice burg. Ive also featured:

- * Step-by-step tutorial sites that generate FREE, personalized blueprints for starting an online business (#77)
- * Websites that allow you to look back in time and see the changes their competitors have made to their sites over the past months or years (#80)
- * Expired domain finders that have personally helped me locate thousands of dollars worth of high-quality domain names (#65 and #83)
- * FREE legal advice websites (You never know when these may come in handy, but theyve already saved me $100s in legal fees.) (#59)
- * FREE website monitoring services that send you an email as soon as your website goes down. (This is a great way to keep tabs on your webhost.) (#19)
- * Email translation sites and accounts that enable you to communicate in any language (#13)
- * Completely FREE autoresponder services that also dont put those annoying ads at the bottom of your emails. (I used these when I first got started and they saved me a lot of cash.) (#10 and #46)

* and theres still more that I dont have the space to go into here... Then, starting in January after my 3rd or 4th issue, I began receving loads of requests for for access to my Archives. (Many were from new subscribers who couldnt stand not knowing what they had missed.) At first my plan was to put all my issues on a password protected page and charge $47 for access. But then I got an even better idea... I thought to myself, Wouldnt it be easier if all my sites and articles from year 1 were bundled together in an ebook? Of course it would?! Not only is an ebook more organized, its also downloadable so you dont have to logon to the Internet everytime you want to read the Archives. So with that decided, I compiled all the Websites Worth Watching and From the Trenches Tips from my newsletter and called it...
