Teaching Secondary English as if the Planet Matters - Sasha Matthewman

'This is an important book for all concerned with the teaching and learning of English, exploring new and hugely significant areas in a scholarly, thought-provoking and eminently practical