Learning to Consult - Rodger Charlton

Information is vital for healthcare professionals striving to keep their practice current and based on the best available evidence. The Internet is playing an increasingly crucial role in lifelong le