Once upon a time there was a Persian prince. The prince had many brothers, for his father had married over a thousand wives, but Prince N