

Closing the Gap in Education and Technology: - De Ferranti

This report focuses not only on the gaps facing Latin America in both education and technology, but especially on the interactions between the two. The central premise of the report is that skills and

