A Dissection of Bitcoin - Paul Huang

Bitcoin is the first digital currency in human history that does not require a central clearing authority. The technological implication of this invention is profound: it opens the possibility of buil