

Designing Regulatory Policy with Limited Information - , D. Sappington

Examines policy design when the policy maker is imperfectly informed, focusing on cases where the regulated firm possesses better information about its technology than the regulator.

Author: Besanko,

