Drugs and alcohol are prevalent in the lives of young people today. Young adults and teens will have a difficult time avoiding these harmful substances. The only way they combat their influence is be