Resource Financed Infrastructure: A Discussion on a New Form of Infrastructure Financing - John Beardsworth

In recent decades, resource-rich developing countries have been using their natural resources as collateral to access sources of finance for investment, countervailing the barriers they face when acce