Self-Efficacy Beliefs of Adolescents. Adolescence and Education.

The introduction of the psychological construct of self-efficacy is widely acknowledged as one of the most important developments in the history of psychology. Today, it is simply not possible to expl