This book explores the negotiation of the ways that teachers are involved in the process of changing curriculum and pedagogies and also the realities of implementing those changes in the classroom. Ho