

Education's Flashpoints: Upside Down or Set-Up to Fail - Jim Dueck

Dueck demonstrates that politicians are a core part of the education system's problem because of their predilection for siding with power structures in society, namely unions and tea

