Meditation in Judaism, Christianity and Islam: Cultural Histories

Meditative practices have flourished in widely different parts of Eurasia, yet historical research on such practices is limited. Research to date has focused on contexts rather than actual practices,