Rethinking Middle Years: Early adolescents, schooling and digital culture - Victoria Carrington

Carrington challenges current conceptions of middle years schooling, arguing that educators need to take more account of the experiences of 10-14 year olds in a digitalised, consumer-driven world.