

Civilizing Rituals - Carol Duncan

Public art museums have become necessary fixtures of every city or country with any claim to importance. Yet we have still to understand what happens in them.

