

Community Participation in China: Issues and Processes for Capacity Building - , John G. Taylor

This important volume provides a source of information on the key issues, including constraints and capacity building, necessary to implement participatory approaches in China today. A wealth of case

