

Direct payments and personal budgets: Putting personalisation into practice - , Rosemary Littlechild

Direct payments and personal budgets are two of the most exciting and important developments in adult social care since the Second World War. From very small-scale origins, both have grown rapidly an

