

Early Years Education and Care: New issues for practice from research

What are the new benchmarks for the future in good early years' provision? What should children and parents expect from practice given recent research evidence on how young children thrive?