This book presents theoretical, research based, and classroom practices that explore the use of multicultural children’s literature to support the linguistic, academic,