

China's Information Revolution - Christine Zhen-Wei Qiang PDF Download

Since 1997, China has devoted considerable resources to information and communications technology (ICT) development. China has the world's largest telecommunications market, and its information techno

