

Educating Managers Through Real World Projects PDF Download

Innovative learning projects in management education and development are discussed in the frame of cutting-edge theory and salient practice. Learning projects are defined as educationally directed act

